

UNIWERSYTET ROLNICZY
im. Hugona Kollątaja w Krakowie

The International Conference for Young Researchers is organised annually by the PhD Student Council of the University of Agriculture in Krakow since 2012. PhD students and young scientists from universities, in Poland and across the world participate in the conference each year. It started as a national conference, however with time it grew and became, international. From 2016 the thematic scope of the conference also increases as well as multidirectional research in agriculture and forestry, it is also possible to present the research on broadly defined technology.

For additional information such as paper submission, plenary sessions, etc. visit the official conference website: <http://mkd.org.pl/>