

Business Standard

Green bodies welcome India's INDC on climate action

Greenpeace India has termed India's climate targets as 'steps in the right direction'

New Delhi October 2, 2015

Reacting to the Intended Nationally Determined Contributions (INDC) announced by India today, green bodies said that it was a much-awaited climate action plan and reflects the country's development challenges, aspirations and the realities of climate change.

"India's INDC is fair and is quite ambitious, specifically on renewable energy and forestry. It reflects its development challenges, aspirations of large numbers of poor people and the realities of climate change," said Sunita Narain, director general, Center for Science and Environment.

"From all angles, India's INDC is as good as China's and better than the US's considering that both these countries have higher emissions than India and are economically more capable of reducing their emissions and mitigating climate change," deputy director general, CSE, Chandra Bhushan said.

Source: http://www.business-standard.com/article/current-affairs/green-bodies-welcome-india-s-indc-on-climate-action-115100200586_1.html